Council Discouraged About Water Plant Progress

By Ted Cox
tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

After an announcement last week that studies and comparisons of the values determined by the engineering firms involved in the process of bringing Lancaster’s water services up to date in a new $12.1 million water plant had been made, a meeting was scheduled to discuss those findings this past Friday evening.

The city council met in a workshop, with members of the Garrard Fiscal Court, and representatives from both Bell Engineering and Salt River Engineering present.

“Your lender wants to know you can pay your bills and that is why they want a long-term minimum purchase requirement from the Garrard County Water Association,” Connie Allen of Salt River Engineering told Representative from Salt River Engineering (Left Standing) Connie Allen and David Schrader, (Right Standing) of Bell Engineering, were on hand to discuss the Water Plant Project at a specially called workshop session for the Lancaster City Council on Monday night.

Garrard Recreational Park’s Finances Under Investigation

By Jim Cox

Financial records of the Garrard Recreational Park are under investigation, but the park’s board president says there has been “no misappropriation of funds” and does not understand why there is a Grand Jury investigation.

Trooper Eric Gibson, Kentucky State Police Post 7, appeared before the Garrard Grand Jury to request a subpoena for bank records of the Garrard County Recreational board. The grand jury approved the investigation.

Judge Executive John Wilson received a complaint from a Recreational Board member raising concerns about the mishandling of the Church Of The Nazarene Walks From Old To New On Sunday

By Jim Cox
jcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Members of the Lancaster Church of the Nazarene will take a walk this coming Sunday morning that will begin at their origins and continue to their new beginnings.

Their day will start at 9:45 a.m. at the old church on Highland Avenue where the congregation will take down the cross from the sanctuary and carry it to their new church on Lexington Street for a Day of Dedication and Praise.

Passing it from one another along the way, many members of the congregation will be marching the entire distance while many of the seniors, once they carry the cross, will be carried to the new church in antique cars.

The church choir will be transported on a horse drawn wagon, singing hymns of praise along the way through town.

Once at the new church at 10:45 a.m., a morning Worship and Dedication Service will be held followed by a dinner on the grounds for everyone.

At 2 p.m. there will be a Praise Service with former pastor Bro. Ron Wesley preaching.

“We want to offer an invitation to everyone in the community to join with us as we celebrate this great event in the life of our church,” Pastor Leon Thomas said, “and a special thanks to all who have been such an encouragement to all of us as we have been involved in this great venture of faith.”

Anyone who has an antique car who would like to help transport some of our elderly in the parade would be deeply appreciated. Please call Bro. Thomas at 859-339-6754.

Garrard County No Longer In 6th Congressional District

By Jim Cox
jcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

It’s the first year for Garrard County to be in the 2nd Congressional District. The county moved out of the 6th Congressional District after the federal redistricting took placed last year.

According to County Clerk Kevin Montgomery, his office has received numerous calls about the Ben Chandler and Andy Barr congressional race. Garrard residents will not have a vote in that race which is in the 6th District.

In this year’s congressional race, Garrard will be voting for incumbent Republican S. Brett Guthrie, Democrat David Lynn Williams, Independent Andrew R. Beacham, or Libertarian Craig R. Astor.

Since that last Presidential election there has been some precinct locations moved, Montgomery said. B101 Gilberts Creek, B102 Elkin, and B103 Pleasant Retreat have been moved to the

Meet The City Council Candidates

By Jim Cox
jcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Ten candidates are vying for the six seats on city council this election. The top six vote-getters will sit on the council.

The Garrard Central Record sent a questionnaire to those running for the council asking for biographical information and requesting their views on four questions.

Of the ten candidates, five are incumbents, three others have sat on previous councils and two newcomers.

One name on the ballot, Bradley Hall, was withdrawn. Hall, who worked for Mine Shield as an engineer, moved to Atlanta.

The following is their information and answers in the order that their names appear on the ballot.

Alan C. Sanders II
Alan C Sanders II, 37, has a BA in History from UK. A retired sergeant in the US Army, his family has lived in this community for over four generations.

His grandfather, Cecil Sanders, was an attorney here in Lancaster and his father, James Sanders, is currently an attorney here.

“He is the most honest man I have ever known,” Sanders said about his father.

“I have decided to run for the office of City Council because I have realized that current City Council has become unable to do basic government duties to serve the citizens of Lancaster because of personal and often vitriolic hatred between the mayor and the council,” he said. “Like Kindergartners in a sandbox they have forgotten that they serve the public. Thus, they have forfeited their sacred duty to govern because of their own personal pride and ambition.”

Chris Davis
Chris Davis, 29, has been a lifelong resident of Lancaster. He graduated from Garrard County High School in 2002, attended Union College and graduated from Eastern Kentucky University in 2007 with a bachelor’s degree in Agribusiness Management. He completed a master’s degree at Union College in 2009 in Special Education.

He is currently a teacher at Garrard County High School, and assistant boys’ basketball coach. He is a member of Lancaster United Methodist Church, Lancaster Fire and Rescue, presently serving as president of the Garrard County FFA Alumni Chapter, and has served on many different boards and committees within Garrard

The Garrard Central Record sent a questionnaire to those running on the November ballot for the Garrard School Board asking for biographical information and requesting their views on three questions.

In the 1st Educational District, incumbent Greg Crutchfield is running against Larry Woods.

In the 2nd Educational District, incumbent Susan R. Ledford’s opponent is J. Kirby Overman.

In the 3rd Educational District, incumbent Jerry Browning is running unopposed.

The following is their information they submitted.

Greg Crutchfield
Greg Crutchfield, age 53, is a 1977 graduate of Garrard County High School, and 1983 graduate of Eastern Kentucky University with a degree in Marketing.

He works for the Davis H. Elliot Company of Lexington where he is a manager of the transmission department.

He and his wife, Heidi, have two daughters- Morgan, who is a sophomore at Eastern Kentucky University, and Madison, who is a senior at Garrard County High School.

He is a member of the Lancaster Baptist Church.

He has been a lifelong resident of Garrard County.

Larry Woods
Larry Woods, age 59, is a 1971 graduate of Garrard County High School, received his Bachelor’s Degree from Berea College, a Masters Degree from University of Kentucky, Rank 1 certification from Eastern Kentucky University and did Doctoral Work from University of Kentucky and additional course work from University of Louisville.

Public education has been his profession for 37 years. Thirty-four of those years in public schools and the last three serving as a consultant for the Kentucky Schools Board Association in Frankfort.

He has been a teacher and coach for twelve years, principal for nine years, four years as an Instructional Supervisor, and nine years as a School Superintendent.

He and his wife, Sharon, have two children, Brad and Emily and two grandchildren Alden, who is a student at Garrard Middle, and Brecken who will be attending school next year.

Woods was raised in Garrard County and now has retired and returned to the family farm on Kemper Lane.

The Babe Bean Kiss

POINTS EAST
By Ike Adams

Loretta and I picked the last mess of green beans we'll be getting out of the garden this year just before dark today (Monday, October 22).

In fact, I didn't even know they were there until we went out to check on our most-likely, lost-cause snow peas that are about ready to blossom but may not get the chance. I planted them two weeks later than I should have, otherwise we'd be eating snow peas for free right now that are going for $4.99 a pound in the produce section at Meijer's.

I love em but not nearly well enough to shell out that kind of money.

Our vines are beautiful and I was lifting them back to show them off when I noticed that some green beans I'd planted in the sweet corn had survived last summer's drought after all. There were only 6 or eight vines but they were loaded down with big, mature, emerald green veggies that sort of looked like white half runners on steroids.

Loretta wanted to know what they were called and where they came from and why I was grinning like a possum eating green persimmons as we plucked them off the vines which I had simply pulled up by the roots so we wouldn't have to bend over.

I was grinning because I wanted to tell her another story sort of related to the beans.

"The mother of the first girl I ever kissed who actually knew what she was doing, sent me those bean seeds in the mail a couple of years ago", I explained. "They are called The Babe Beans, named, I believe, for one the family's ancestors, Babe Campbell. At least they were sent to me by Tannie Cornett who lives at Ulvah in Letcher County and whose maiden name was Campbell. Tannie got my mailing address out of the Mountain Eagle when I published it in a column for one reason or another. I just got around to planting some of them this year."

"Ohhhhhkay, but that doesn't explain the ridiculous grin", Loretta muttered.

"I was just thinking that the beans are mighty pretty, just like Tannie's daughter, and if they taste half as good as those kisses, we're gonna be having some mighty fine eating too," I said!

Loretta kept on quietly and thoughtfully picking beans for a minute or two, "So just how long has it been since you got all that good kissing from little Miss Cornett", my wife finally wanted to know?

"Oh, bout 48 years, give or take a month or two", I told her, "but some things are just so sweet you never forget them".

"And I guess Mrs. Cornett knew all about you sneaking around and smooching on her daughter and after all these years she decided to send you some seed beans for old time's sake," Loretta queried?

I said, "Nope, but two or three times when I went to their house to do some sparking, I did help Mom pick some beans. And besides that, it's common knowledge that I like to grow heirloom beans."

That seemed to be enough to satisfy my wife's curiosity for the time being but I'm sure the subject will come up again after I put the Babe Beans on the table for supper tomorrow night. I'd bet anything that she will want a further comparison between the taste of the beans of my old age and the kisses of my youth.

In the meantime, here's hoping that Tannie Cornett sees this story and also knows that I still have enough seed left to get the Babes planted on time next year. Thank you Tannie!

MY MISTAKE

I had a feeling all along
That it was too good to be true
And it seems I gave credit
When there wasn't any due.

There went all hope of progress
When I looked out Friday night
No matter which way you turned
You could see nothing but a light.

The lights in the parking lot
Light up from dusk till dawn
But they turn all the others
So they won't even come on.

And when you look at the tennis court
It's lit up almost every night
Taxpayers paying for some to play
To me that just ain't hardly right.

By Jimmy Naylor

They need a box by the light switch
Like used to be on bathroom walls
Drop your money in first to have Lights on so you can see the ball.

Seems these board members refuse
To approach spending with just common sense
And they try to help everybody
By cutting back on any expense.

Well the election is coming
They might want to take note
I'm taking my tax bill with me
When I go in to vote.

We need some folks like Overman
The man known mostly as coach
When it comes to doing it right
The man has the right approach.

Our Privilege to Vote

Dear Editor,

I would like to remind the voters of Garrard and Madison counties what a privilege it is to be able to vote. It is a freedom that we should not take for granted. At the same time as citizens and Christians, it is our responsibility to vote for the one who will represent us in good moral and ethical issues, one who will represent us by putting God first in his decisions that he will encounter as state representative.

As a teacher of Jonathan Shell in the Garrard County School System, I can vouch for his good character, his good attitude toward his fellow man, and a person who has responsibility to get things done and to always do the right thing. We are lucky having a candidate such as Jonathan.

I know when Jonathan says he will defend the unborn and will support legislation to wipe out abortion in Kentucky, we can depend on him to do every thing in his power to see it happen.

I'm asking you to go to the polls on November 6th and exercise your right to vote. I am appealing to you to vote for the best candidate choice, Jonathan Shell. I TRUST him to be our next State Representative of the 36th District of Kentucky.

Thank you,
Jewell Baker

Vote

Dear Editor-

Hundreds of thousands of young Americans are serving our military to preserve our way of life, and yet fewer and fewer of our citizens are participating in our democracy.

November 6th is Election Day when Kentuckians will be selecting House and Senate members of Kentucky's General Assembly, U.S. House of Representatives, the President of the United States, and various state judicial officials. Members of Garrard County Farm Bureau hope every voter will make their voice heard by casting informed votes for our government leaders.

As Kentuckians, it is our responsibility to find out the ideas of each candidate. And, as Garrard Countians, it is our responsibility to let the candidates know what issues are important to our community, and it's easy to do. A number of key issues, including tax reform and redistricting may be considered during the 2013 Session of the Kentucky General Assembly, so it is critically important we have elected officials in office who understand the importance of agriculture and the issues confronting rural Kentucky. Be involved and attend the functions candidates attend and tell them what is important. In addition, ask them about their position on key issues. Campaigns select issues based on what voters tell them are important.

Your involvement will make a difference in the process. First, you must bring your issues to the front of the debate. Then, hold the candidates accountable by going to vote. Garrard County Farm Bureau urges you to make an impact by voting in the November 6th Election!

Garrard County Farm Bureau

Just Another Urban Legend

Dear Sir:

I thought the editorial page of last week's paper was certainly improved by the "Economics Lesson" which claimed to recount a "college economics professor" giving a lesson on "Obama Socialism". None of it was true of course, but fabricated nonsense like this floats into my email all the time and I've developed a taste for it. It's an amazing window onto the ignorance and gullibility of a large segment of the population.

There are sites that collect and fact check this stuff and I suggest that the paper start printing them in every edition and in every section. The "National Enquirer" has done quite well with a similar format. I've taken the liberty of looking up a few more stories on "economics". Apparently, China is going to be given eminent domain over the U.S. as "collateral for American debt". In a probably related story: the U.S. is producing "Amero Notes" to be used for the coming economic union of the U.S., Mexico and Canada. It's probably for the best anyway because Obama's thesis at Columbia University proclaimed that the Founding Fathers "did not allow for economic freedom".

On the political front, Obama has suggested replacing the national anthem with "I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing". And maybe we should go along with the idea because apparently hundreds of people have been healed by touching the president. In a surprise move, the Klan has supported Obama for President. It also appears that his mother was born a man.

On the health front, we see that drinking cold water, disposable chopsticks, canola oil, crayons, shampoo and chicken wings all cause cancer. Fortunately, honey, cinnamon, and hydrogen peroxide cure it.

And to wrap up with a human interest story, John Wayne's autopsy revealed

Adventure Genealogy

By Angela Correll

Genealogy research usually calls to mind laborious searches through an ancient set of dusty books in the bowels of a courthouse. But I would like to offer another form of research called: Adventure Genealogy.

This is where words on paper or even oral history become an experience for the descendent. It's a way to find what exists today and connect it to the past. But this type of research requires gumption, boldness, and a good pair of hiking shoes. You might find yourself climbing, crawling, or hiking through the wilderness to find that ancestral gem.

In early September we visited France to see the WW II historic beaches of Normandy. Only a couple hundred miles to the south was the town where one of my ancestral lines originated, a family whose descendants ended up in Madison and Garrard County.

The Mauze or Mauzey family settled in Paint Lick in the 1800s after coming from Virginia, but they were originally from a town in France called Mauze-sur-le-Mignon, meaning Mauze on the River. The town took its name after the family, who settled there in the 1200s and built a castle on the river. They lived in that area until the later 1600s when persecution for their reformed beliefs became too great and they fled France for other countries. They were known as French Huguenots.

In an article written in the 1950s, a Mauzey descendant stated that the "castle still stands." I could find no evidence on the Internet that it was still there, neither pictures nor recent documentations.

Well, we would just have to see for ourselves.

We drove into Mauze-sur-le-Mignon and parked in the town square late in the day when everything was closing. We found a fence around something in the center of town, but between overgrown vegetation and a dry riverbed, it seemed impossible to access. There was no lodging in Mauze, so we drove to back to La Rochelle, a large port city on the coast, and spent the night.

We spent the next morning searching out false leads in the countryside. We drove back into Mauze, deciding it had to be in the center of town. My French skills were limited and in the rural areas, it was difficult to find an English speaker. We walked around the dry river and found a renovated ancient Mill. My husband spotted a younger couple going into the Mill's gated garden, and he followed them.

This is when you need a bold person in your research party. Shy people like me hang back, while my husband followed his intuition that they would speak English. They did and told us the Mill was part of the Mauze family estate back in medieval times. They told us the Mauze castle (chateau in French) was in the middle of the dry riverbeds (moats) and that the owner lived in Paris. Only the caretaker was there now. They suggested we walk along the moat and climb up the backside and sneak in for a few pictures.

We were off, but I quickly realized how ill prepared I was for a hiking adventure. I longed for good walking shoes instead of my flip-flop like sandals. We climbed about twelve or fourteen feet into the moat, which was covered in tall grasses, rocks, and thorny plants. After a long trek to the backside of the estate, we found an open gate into the property. I was on edge, feeling uncomfortable at being on someone else's property unannounced. But the desire to see this elusive castle overcame any discomfort and soon it was worth it.

We came out of the trees to view a spectacular stone structure with turrets and a vast garden that had once been grand. Outbuildings peppered the outside wall that once contained stables, and other structures that made a household function. I snapped quickly, keeping to the tree line to avoid detection by the caretaker.

When we left, I fell climbing out of the moat, and then we had a long walk through high grass to get back to our car. But it was all worth it, for now the mystery was solved and I had pictures to prove it.

I hope to go back someday and possibly bring other family members. And maybe this time, we can get permission from the owner so we don't have to sneak in the back way. But no matter what, I will always have the adventure and the pictures to share with my family and other Mauzey descendants.

Welcome!

Trail Pleasure Saddle Club News

Logan Hubble Park is beautiful right now. The leaves are the brilliant, bright colors of fall. This might be one of our last stretches of warm weather, so all you horse riders better take advantage of it!

There have been a lot of non-horse people at the park lately. I have run into several walkers and kids who have been thrilled to see my horse. The International Mountain Bicycling Association suggests that when hikers encounter horses or mules on the trail the hiker should step

60th Wedding Anniversary

Melvin and Gladys Bottom of Perryville will be celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary on October 31st. They were married October 31, 1952 in Jeffersonville, IN.

They have five children, Kennie (Ellen) Bottom of Hamilton, OH, Pete (Lisa) Bottom of Perryville, Chris (Paula) Bottom of Argillite, KY, Sharon (Russ) Caudill of Lancaster and Mark (Trille) Bottom of Perryville.

They have 10 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. They will celebrate with their family.

off the trail on the downhill side and talk to the rider and animal in a calm voice. This lets the animal know you are a person! A walker should keep talking in a calm voice and be still without running in place or waving his arms around until the animal has passed by. Many walkers are not familiar with horses so as riders we need to try to educate them about our horses so that we can keep them and ourselves safe!

The next Trail Pleasure Saddle Club Meeting will be Friday October 26 at 7:00 pm in the First Southern National Bank Community room in Lancaster. The meal is a potluck and the club will provide the drinks. Everyone is encouraged to attend for business discussions and visiting!

Wendell Thacker is hosting a trail ride on November 4th at Everett Adams place in Crab Orchard. The ride will start at 2:00 pm and there will be a meal after the ride. Wendell says if it rains just come on and we'll eat, anyways!

You all have a great week and be careful, folks.

Habitat News

By Roberta Keefe

Well, try as we might to get the current build wrapped up, it isn't happening as fast as we'd prefer. The state inspector noticed ten different little items that need attention. Things like the big breaker box only has two of the six screws in it and that a piece of the outside vinyl has come loose at the top and that there were three missing pieces of insulation under the floor and other items of similar importance. We did get the driveway back filled but not in time for the inspection.

As luck would have it though the three main inspections were preformed just minutes before he came in. The electrical inspector came in the morning, then the plumbing inspector came right after lunch and then the last miracle, the HVAC inspector was close by and could come in last, so all the green stickers were there for Andy, the state inspector to view. We were as impressed as he was.

The papers for the mortgage and deed have been taken to be completed by Chris Whitworth, our local attorney that is kind enough to write them up for us.

We have heard from Whirlpool and the appliances will be delivered on Thursday.

The cost of the washer and dryer has gone up, but our homeowner still receives a great reduction. Whirlpool continues to donate a refrigerator and range, taking a tax deduction of 800.00 for each appliance.

We are often alerted to the events going on in other affiliates as in the good news from the Fresno CA affiliate. They had a breakfast event sponsored by Gap Inc. with 350 guests attending and were able to raise $73,000.

However the most exciting part of the event was the awesome news that Wells Fargo's Central Valley Market President presented the Fresno Affiliate a grant check for $200,000.00. We are very happy for them but as can be expected green with envy.

As if that weren't enough, John Niemenn of Cargill Beef donated another $100,000.00. Both entities have been the affiliates sustaining partners for many years. We discussed this great fortune at our last board meeting drooling over the possibilities we could accomplish with so much largesse.

The monies Fresno received will eventually fund 11 homes and house 88 people and be named the Clara North Village. Good building prayers to Fresno and their good fortune.

Please, call Roberta at 859-548-2270 to volunteer for the next build.

RECORD, OCTOBER 25, 2012 - A - 5 Toy Drive. We need your support with any donations. Anyone wishing to donate money or new toys, please contact Chief Sebastian or any member of the Fire Department or call the office 859-792-4775. We cannot accept used toys or used stuffed animals. Stars Over Appalachia

Berea College is co-hosting with the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame on November 10th at Renfro Valley "Stars Over Appalachia." They would like to extend an invitation to all families with children participating in their programs in Garrard County like GEAR UP, Upward Bound, Upward Bound Math & Science, Educational Talent Search and i3. The day-long event at Renfro Valley includes an information fair, food, a performance by Nashville recording artist Jimmy Wayne and a roundtable discussion with parent workers from Berea's programs. The day will begin at 11:30am-3:30pm. Pre-registration is required. Families can call the 1-888-808-2668 number to register. Parents are the most important partners in education— programs like GEAR UP need parents to help get students in our county ready for college and their careers.

AN ENCOURAGING WORD: MAKING THE MOST OF AN OPPORTUNITY

By Howard Coop

It was a great moment for me. I was thrilled with the opportunity given to me and excited with the possibility of making something out of it.

For the first time in my life, I was given the opportunity to walk around Hegira Ridge to the country store, about a mile from our house, alone. My mother needed something from the store, and there was no one available to go get it for her. After reminding me that she was confident that I could do it, she placed six eggs in a cloth bag, showed me how to carry them, and told me to be careful. Those six eggs, she said, would bring enough to pay for the item she wanted and have enough left to get me a stick of peppermint candy.

I left the house that cool, gray day with my heart rushing. Following the old dirt road around the ridge, I watched, as I had been told to do, for mud holes and rough places. But after I had walked about a quarter of a mile, I was attracted by something, and I looked to the left. As I moved forward with my attention focused on whatever attracted me, I tripped over a rough place and fell forward slinging the bag of eggs hard on the rough road. All of them were broken. There was nothing for me to do but go home and face my mother.

With that old bag and six broken eggs, I returned to the house. I am sure my mother was disappointed, but she placed her arm around my shoulder and listened to my story. Then, she said in language I understood, "Always be careful and watch where you are going."

Years later, those words of my mother took on new meaning when I discovered the words of another individual who wrote to his friends, "Be very careful, then, how you live---not as unwise but as wise, making the most of every opportunity."

The annual Farm-City Banquet was held on Tuesday night at the Ashley Inn Bed and Breakfast in northern Garrard County to honor both the community and to award individuals and businesses for their outstanding leadership and commitment to Garrard County.

At this year's Farm City Banquet the Garrard County Chamber of Commerce honored the male and female students of the year, Mary Ezaizat and Ethan Smith; the agricultural business of the year, Meadowlake Equestrian Center; business of the year, Ephraim McDowell Medical; and small business of the year, Subway.

Meadow Lake Equestrian Center, the 2012 Ag-Business of the Year, had their modern day inception in 2007, but the property's history dates back to 1841 when a southern family purchased the land and built their antebellum home amidst the rolling hills.

The property's historical mansion once housed a school, then became a private residence, and has now been transformed into the beautiful Ashley Inn Bed & Breakfast, the perfect place to stay for extended events and equine layovers. Private guest rooms are located in the mansion and the many outbuildings, while the event facilities can successfully accommodate both small and large gatherings.

"Initiated in 2007 by a young couple from Seattle, Washington, their motto is 'Where aspirations become accomplishments.' They have brought jobs to Garrard County while giving others a reason to visit," Joe Brown said.

The Business of the Year Award was bestowed to Ephraim McDowell Health.

Ephraim McDowell Health is a comprehensive, integrated healthcare delivery system that serves more than 119,000 residents from six counties in central Kentucky.

At the core of the system is Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center, a non-profit, 222-bed licensed hospital that was established more than a century ago. The Ephraim McDowell Health system also includes Ephraim McDowell Fort Logan Hospital in neighboring Lincoln County (Stanford).

They began serving Garrard County in 1997 in their northern Garrard facility. They have expanded to include two other facilities in Garrard County.

The Small Business of the Year Award was awarded to Subway on Lancaster's Public Square.

"This business adds value and curb appeal to our county seat. They provide job opportunities to Garrard's youth and have been recognized for their cleanliness and customer service," Brown said.

The Lancaster Subway franchise is owned by partners Cliff Ed Irvin and Mike Murphy.

The Chamber included several new honors on Tuesday night, including the Community Leadership award, bestowed to McKinley Dailey for his efforts to restore the Grand Theater; The Customer Service Award, bestowed to Chris Palmer of Rite Aid; The Excellence In Arts Award, bestowed to Jean Turner; Clean Up Garrard County Award, bestowed to Solid Waste Coordinator Chris Thomason; The Humanitarian Award, bestowed to Coroner Daryl Hodge; The Community Service Award, bestowed to Shirley Long and Debbie Sebastian; and the Big Apple Award, bestowed to Tina Brogle.

The Garrard County Chamber of Commerce also honored outstanding achievement in scholastics at the banquet on Thursday night as it honored female and male Students of the Year Awards, Mary Ezaizat and Ethan Smith.

Ezaizat has played varsity soccer for four years, an optimist and has served as student council president. She also helps her parents with their business. She enjoys the small town feel of Garrard County and participates in community service projects such as food drives. She looks forward to attending college and pursuing a career that will help benefit her and her family.

Smith is currently the Senior Vice President of the Student Council. He has attended Governor's Scholar programs at Murray State University and is a member of the varsity tennis team and soccer team. He maintains a 4.0 GPA and is a member of the honor society and young Republicans. He plans on attending the University of Kentucky to pursue a career in civil engineering.

The Garrard Chamber of Commerce is more than 100 members strong and is actively associated with tourism, economic development, legislative issues, youth leadership and community service throughout Garrard County. Endowments Announced For Garrard, Lincoln, Boyle and Mercer

tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Judge executives from Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer counties met Monday at Centre College's Norton Center for the Arts to announce a new initiative to promote endowments for each of the four counties.

Garrard Judge-Executive John Wilson, Boyle Judge-Executive Harold McKinney, Lincoln Judge-Executive Jim Adams, Mercer Judge-Executive Milward Dedman, Wilderness Trace Community Foundation board members, superintendents from districts throughout the four counties, and Norton Center Executive Director Steve Hoffman spoke about the need for county endowments in the community to help meet the requests from nonprofit organizations, for scholarships or funding for the arts, education, or health and human services.

The endowments will be created through the Wilderness Trace Community Foundation, which enables the charitable wishes of individuals to meet the needs of community agencies.

"It was an unprecedented event to have four county judges together announcing a community endowment," Wilson said. "If we were to do this on our own it would take much longer to reach the financial threshold. Basically it takes $40,000 to create one of these. What Wilderness Trace has done is allow each of these four counties to raise $10,000. Our money will stay in Garrard County and this is a way that somebody can leave a legacy that goes on and on indefinitely."

Endowments provide ongoing benefits for those that receive them by earning a market rate of interest while keeping the core endowment principal intact to fund future years of scholarships, or whatever efforts the donor sought to fund. In some cases, a certain percentage of the assets are allowed to be used each year, so the amount pulled out of the endowment could be a combination of interest income and principal. The ratio of principal to income would change year to year based on prevailing market rates.

When the fund reaches $100,000, an advisory group of eight citizens will be formed to decide how the funds will be distributed, Wilson added.

"We've had people who support these kind of organizations in the past and once they are no longer here then their support is no longer here and an endowment is a way to make certain that support continues in the community," Wilson said. "Our hope is that in the future it will lessen the tax burden on the people."

Garrard and Lincoln counties have jointly created a parks endowment to provide funding for park needs. The two counties also plan to create separate community endowments.

In addition, the Wilderness

Trace Community Foundation also announced a partnership with Centre College's Norton Center for the Arts to make free or discounted tickets available to public school students attending matinee performances at Norton.

The Wilderness Trace Community Foundation is a tax-exempt, charitable foundation providing resources for a broad range of needs in Boyle, Mercer, Garrard and Lincoln counties. The Foundation enables people to establish charitable funds to be used in making grants to the causes and issues specifically designated by the donor. The funds are managed professionally, growing over time.

Like all community foundations, Wilderness Trace is overseen by a volunteer board of citizens with expertise in identifying and funding community needs. Because the Foundation acts as an umbrella organization, it keeps overhead to a minimum while providing maximum financial support to the community.

The Arts for the Classroom Ticket Subsidy, or ACTS, program will be available to students in the Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer school districts, and the Burgin and Danville Independent schools.

Endowments created through community foundations in Kentucky can provide a 20 percent tax credit to individuals and businesses.

City Water Plant Project

the court during the workshop. "Garrard Water is in the catbird position right now. They can shop around for the best rates and they are currently in the driver's seat right now."

Bell Engineering, the firm hired to design and build the new water plant has already been paid $300,000 from state funds that Representative Connie Napier was able to reallocate from sewer projects to the funding for a new water plant. The next chunk came in December 2011 when Lancaster was awarded an economic development grant of $2.5 million. Final funding of the estimated total cost of $12.1 million was completed in early August this year when the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development kicked in $2.308 million in grant money and $6.3 million in loans with conditions.

"If you look at the big picture, you have made a lot of improvements using federal funds to your system. Part of the reason you do those things is to maintain your commitment to Garrard County. You committed in 1970 to supply the people of Garrard County with water and you have spent a lot of money maintaining and improving your system so that you can maintain that commitment," David Schrader, with Bell Engineering, told the council. "That's really what this is about is maintaining that commitment."

Rural Development's conditions include rate increases across the board (wholesale-water rates by more than 18 percent from $1.98 to at least $2.42 per 1,000 gallons of water and city rates by 19 percent from $10.19 to 12.59 for the first 1,000 gallons). The city's bond indebtedness will also increase from $21,536 to $57,711.

With less than 180 days remaining for the city to comply with the letter of conditions, waiting is not an option. All parties involved need to be fully informed so either negotiations with GCWA can begin or an alternate plan is decided upon.

Councilperson Maggie Mick said that she and others were frustrated with the current situation.

"We were promised an independent study would be done with expediency a year ago," Mick said. "Here we are a year to the date later talking about a report that I have still not seen. I just don't know how much of a decision can be made based on this information."

Councilman Bret Baierlein said that he didn't feel comfortable having any conversation about the plan for the plant before they were presented with the information provided by the studies.

Mick was further frustrated that Paul Reynolds, President of GCWA, was unable to attend due to a scheduling conflict.

"I thought we would be able to get all of this out and get opinions from every party," Mick said. "I think the point of tonight was to have a conversation on what we are all doing without everyone talking on the sidelines. No vote was to take place. But with the local media putting on the front page that everyone doesn't know what is going on, we needed to all sit down in the same room and discuss it. So here we are."

Connie Allen, of Salt River, the firm hired to perform the independent study, said that the situation is very complex.

Salt River took several scenarios into account, with varying rates for each:

- Lancaster Builds New WTP with no Minimum Purchase Contract - estimated monthly bill (4000 gallons) Lancaster: $46.09; GCWA : $25.58

- Lancaster & GCWA Partner and Build New WTP (site as planned) to Serve Existing Customers - estimated monthly bill (4000 gallons) Lancaster: $39.31; GCWA: $30.41

- Lancaster and GCWA Merge and Build New WTP to Serve Existing Customers - estimated monthly bill (4000 gallons) Lancaster: $37.50; GCWA: $25.76

- GCWA buys from Danville; Lancaster builds WTP - estimated monthly bill (4000 gallons) Lancaster: $44.83; GCWA : $29.53

- GCWA builds new WTP; sells water to Lancaster and Crab Orchard - estimated monthly bill (4000 gallons) Lancaster:

The Week Garrard Went Pink

All of Lancaster was adorned in Pink on Friday, October 19, as businesses and individuals celebrated breast cancer awareness, as part of Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

The National Breast Cancer Awareness Month (NBCAM) is a collaboration of national public service organizations, professional medical associations, and government agencies working together to promote breast cancer awareness, share information on the disease, and provide greater access to services.

As part of the effort Garrard citizens turned out to the Garrard County Courthouse on Friday to show their support with pink treats, pink pumpkins and words of encouragement from those who have had their lives touched by the disease.

Since its inception more than 25 years ago, NBCAM has been at the forefront of promoting awareness of breast cancer issues and has evolved along with the national dialogue on breast cancer. NBCAM recognizes that, although many great strides have been made in breast cancer awareness and treatment, there remains much to be accomplished. Today, we remain dedicated to educating and empowering women to take charge of their own breast health.

Although October is designated as National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, NBCAM is dedicated to raising awareness and educating individuals about breast cancer throughout the year.

The pink ribbon is an international symbol of breast cancer awareness. Pink ribbons, and the color pink in general, identify the wearer or promoter with the breast cancer brand and express moral support for women with breast cancer. Pink ribbons are most commonly seen during National Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

On the Ballot this time there is a Constitutional Amendment: Are you in favor of amending the Kentucky Constitution to state that the citizens of Kentucky have the personal right to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife, subject to laws and regulations that promote conservation and preserve the future of hunting and fishing, and to state that public hunting and fishing shall be a preferred means of managing and controlling wildlife?

"We are receiving a lot of calls regarding this question and what does it mean," he said. "I would suggest that the voters go to fw.ky.gov and read the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife stance on this. Basically if a voter votes YES then it guarantees a right to hunt and fish according to the Ky Fish & Wildlife."

He forwarded the complaint to the County Attorney and made the Kentucky State Police aware of the complaint on July 3rd.

"There is no misappropriation of funds whatsoever," Greg Burnside, the Garrard Recreational Park board's president for the last five years said.

"Its a simply a routine audit according to the by-laws of the organization," he said.

He has no idea why the Grand Jury was called in, he said and is just waiting to see what they say. He did hear that a complaint was made to Judge Wilson.

The city and county jointly owns the recreational park's property on Stanford Road but does not have any legal authority over the board, Wilson said.

Baierlein said that he was pleased with the discussion and that the council was informed by the meeting.

"We are talking about $6 mil-

BOONES CREEK, GILBERTS CREEK, PLEASANT RETREAT, and POOR HOUSE

School Board Candidates Answer Questions

1. Have you ever served in public office or with the school system prior to this election. a. If yes, when, where and why are you seeking this office? b. If no, what has prompted you to seek election.

1st Educational District

Greg Crutchfield:

Yes, I have proudly served as a member of the Garrard County Board of Education for the last 12 years. I would like to continue to serve the citizens of Garrard County as a Board Member, to continue the improvement that we started in the last several years.

Larry Woods:

I have served in no public office (elected by voters); however I have served as school superintendent for nine years which is comparable to a public office. During my professional tenure, I was employed with the Garrard County schools as a teacher, coach and Instructional Supervisor. I am seeking this school board position because I have strong background knowledge in public school education and administration, especially in School Finance and leadership. I want to be involved with community by providing and supporting our community and students with a new innovation and ideas. Lastly, my grandchildren and “all” children are important to me. I want the best school system possible for them.

2nd Educational District

Susan Ledford:

Retiring from teaching did not end my passion for education. In 2001 I started my first term on the Garrard County Board of Education as its sole female member and only the second female member in its history. I am now completing my third term on the board of education. I have achieved level 5, the highest level awarded by the Kentucky School Board Association, and have attained 150.5 credit hours of continuing education. Although I have served on the board for twelve years, I do not feel that I have completed my work.

J. Kirby Overman:

I would like to contribute to my community. With my experience, I believe, first, I can be an effective voice for the students, parents, teachers/faculty and tax payers of Garrard County. It is imperative that we get efficient use of our tax dollar, and select and improve the programs /opportunities for all students.

I have experienced programs and teaching in 14 different environments, from small rural schools, to single city or county schools, to the “ high tech” schools of large metropolitan areas and the college classroom. This affords me an understanding of an array of educational tools.

As a certified athletic administrator and as a coach at the college and high school level, I have unique experiences to assist the Garrard County school system.

3rd Educational District

Jerry Browning (unopposed):

I am completing my 8th year as a member of the Garrard county board of education. I had actually considered not running for a third term. As word of this began to get out I received numerous phone calls as well as folks coming up to me out in the community asking me to reconsider my decision. After much prayer I decided to run once again.

2. What do you feel are your strengths and how will those strengths benefit the residents of Lancaster if you are elected?

1st Educational District

Greg Crutchfield:

I feel that my one of my strengths is that I care for children and the future that education represents for each and every one of them. Another one of my strengths is my being accessible to anyone that would like to talk or share any concerns that they may have.

Larry Woods:

My strengths are two-fold. First, I have the experience and knowledge base to be a board member. I personally have served with three different school boards and presently work with school board members across Kentucky conducting seminars on school finance, facility planning and energy conservation. I know school law, budget formation, leadership, curriculum, teaching methodology, and all the support systems including transportation, food service, and extra-curricula activities. I feel safe in saying that I know all the ingredients needed to have a top-notch school system. Secondly, I know the process for decision-making, gathering community support, and being a team player. This involves open communication by, interacting, listening and responding to the needs of various stakeholders. Many times, the people do not understand or have not been informed why decisions have been made or even been involved in decision making. I am a people-person and love to talk with parents, taxpayers, and community partners to find out what is needed. I want to build trust and open the communication avenues. This takes time and effort, however I am willing to do what it takes to reach out to improve communication and devise a school system that meets all children needs by raising our expectations and goals.

2nd Educational District

Susan Ledford:

I have a great ability to empathize which has served me well with students both in the classroom and as a member of the board of education. My ties with former students and their parents have encouraged their trust. My strengths lie in the academic arena. I have long maintained that we will not get the best if we do not expect the best. It is when we expect little that we get little. We have students and teachers that are the equal of the best that any school has to offer—we must expect the best from both our teachers and our students and give them recognition for performing to the giving us their best. My experiences with the Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Development Authority have shown me the importance of promoting ties with industry and business to help students to be career ready as well as college ready. Garrard County cannot expect true progress without an educated work force that can fulfill the needs of business and industry.

J. Kirby Overman:

I have experienced programs and teaching in 14 different environments, from small rural schools, to single city or county schools, to the “ high tech” schools of large metropolitan areas and the college classroom. This affords me an understanding of an array of educational tools.

As a certified athletic administrator and as a coach at the college and high school level, I have unique experiences to assist the Garrard County school system.

3rd Educational District

Jerry Browning (unopposed):

I believe my strengths are as follows: I am a caring, compassionate person; I genuinely care about the children we have been charged to educate; I appreciate all our school employees; I work well with my fellow board members and superintendant. All this along with the experience I have gained these last 8 years will benefit the residents of Garrard County and our school system as a whole.

3. What do you think is the most important issue facing the Garrard County school system at this time and how do you propose to deal with that issue?

1st Educational District

Greg Crutchfield:

The biggest issue facing the school system in the coming years will be funding of our school system. In the past we have been able to find monies in different places, in the future raising taxes will not be an option. We will need to be creative; also, we need to be aggressive with our state and federal officials to make sure they understand our unique situation with limited resources. We should also work with our local government to help entice any business to locate to our community to help with opportunities for our graduates.

Larry Woods:

There are a number of issues that need to be addressed in our district at this time. There is high taxation to the property owner (increased 50% in last ten years), low morale developed from lackluster district leadership, broken communication avenues to community, low high school graduation rates, lack of student programs that address the diversity of our students (high and low achievers), stagnant ACT Scores, unoccupied school buildings, the issue of spending tax dollars wisely, and I could mention more. This list may make our district sound terrible; but actually we are not. However, we do need improvements and we do need to make better efficient use of our money. According to Kentucky test data, we fall in middle category in student achievement when compared to surrounding school districts. We need to be much better. I am not satisfied being average as this indicates our students are missing vital components of the ultimate goal of being career and college ready. Being in the middle and with a high tax rate (sixth highest in Kentucky County School districts) does not equate and has become a frustrating point for me (because of my previous experiences as a superintendent). Are we spending our money wisely in order for us to reach higher goals? Simply, are we getting the “bang for the buck?” We need to correct any inconsistencies in spending that may include equity of resources, personnel, and student programs. We do have a new high school building; however a majority of people that I have spoken have indicated that it wasn’t needed. Now, by hearing and analyzing their concerns and the present test score data; they may be right. Maybe, we should have focused on other needs-like the well-being of students and teachers. For example, we should invest in student engineering, technology, virtual on-line instruction, and early childhood programs, provide teachers with proper tools and technology for the classroom, utilize better promotion services for student and teachers, develop upgrades to extra-curricular facilities for sports, and again I can list many more. We have good teachers and support staff and many are friends, so I can personally say they should be managed, appreciated, and compensated in a professionally manner.

So where is all our money going or how well has the board managed the fiscal resources? One of my top priorities, if elected is to analyze the present revenue and expenditures and make sure our student and teacher needs are being met. I want to eliminate any waste and put fiscal resources in proper place for teaching and learning.

I have listed many issues and feel I can embed all into one main concern for our district. This is trust! After talking with our citizens, parents, teachers, and students, I get a sense that they do not openly trust the district administration. The high tax rates, the building of a high school, the selected location of new high school, teacher frustrations, lack of communication, and so on have caused our community to question just how efficient and good is our school district. Also, they do not get direct communication and often times the public feels they are being left out. District communication must always be transparent and truthful for trust to develop. Developing trust is much more than buying a billboard sign or a newspaper article to display the mission statement or district motto. You must walk the talk and be genuine to all. A board member is a representative and a steward to the community. If elected, I will involve our community in budget formation and then communicate how and why we are spending tax dollars. We must work together to develop a school district where students are not transferring to other districts and where all students feel proud of their schools.

In closing, I want to be involved with the schools and feel that I can be a valuable asset. I want the best for our children and will always be available to my community. I want to instill trust back in our district. It is time for change because in Garrard County, the school system is the most important entity that we have to grow economically and prosper to the future.

2nd Educational District

Susan Ledford:

An unacceptable dropout rate and graduation rate. I feel that one of the best ways to achieve success in these areas is increased early childhood intervention. Children who are in danger of becoming dropouts must be identified long before they reach high school. Children must be able to read by the time they are in the third grade or their chances of later academic success are greatly diminished.

College and career readiness. The more rigorous course standards required by Kentucky will aid in increasing college readiness. Increased ties with business and industry both inside and outside Garrard County as well as increased technical and vocational education will provide our students with greater knowledge of the world of work, its expectations and benefits.

Transition from elementary to middle school and from middle school to high school. Whether it be from academic or from social problems, these transitions are extremely difficult for our students. Programs are now in place to address this problem.

The biggest problem that Garrard County Schools are now facing is funding. Like many of you, the school system is required to provide more and more, but receives less and less money. At both the federal and the state level, severe cuts have been made in school funding, and the schools are required to continue to provide at least the same or greater services with the funds that they do receive. At each meeting, the board struggles with matters of funding. Garrard County is in a unique position because unlike many other districts, it has minimal industry and no access to additional funds such as coal severance money. In order to provide required services, we are forced to rely on Garrard County citizens through their property tax to provide additional funding for our schools. The children of Garrard County and their education must be our primary concerns. I wish we had enough money so that we could say that we would never have to raise property taxes again, but I cannot. I do not know how much and when federal and state funding will be stripped from us again, and I do not know how many more pennies we can pinch.

I have no ties to any politician and despise what politics has become. I will not allow it to enter the school board nor influence my decisions. I can and will do only what I know in my heart and mind is best for the children of Garrard County and their education.

J. Kirby Overman:

It is a must that we become more efficient with our tax dollars in education and prove to be fiscally responsible. There are several indicators that our school system is not doing this.

I also believe in more transparency of the school board operations and accessibility to the public. Currently we see little to no discussion in the decision-making process of our school board.

Establishing and implementing a “plan” to prepare and assist our students in:

- * Preparing for college, technical training, and other career skills

- * Preparing for work force

- * To be a productive citizen

There must be programs to involve our students in community service. (I.e. internships with local businesses and industries and local government agencies)

I am aware of available programs that are being utilized by counties around us which are proven to be successful and yet Garrard County is not. (I.e. - Project Lead the Way). We have good, effective, qualified teachers, but they also need the best in “tools” with which to work. Let’s stop losing students who move to other school systems outside of Garrard County. We should attract others to come here!

3rd Educational District

Jerry Browning (unopposed):

To me the most important issue facing our school system is the economy and the substantial loss of revenue we have suffered as a result. We as a board deal with this issue by working with our superintendant and finance officers to be fiscally responsible. His ability to work with the budget is one of the reasons we hired Mr. Aldridge. Although we may not always agree on everything, this board has worked together to work out solutions that will most benefit our children and all our employees. We have had to deal with some difficult issues in the past and will in the future. I know that I am running unopposed but will greatly appreciate your vote. Thank you for the confidence you have shown toward me in the past and for your vote on November 6th.

County.

“I have served on the Lancaster City Council the past 6 years,” he said. “Many improvements have been made to our city the past several years. We have improved our infrastructure in water lines, sewer lines, as well as upgrading to electronic water meters. Our utility plants have had upgrade improvements to cut operational cost, and work in a more efficient manner. Our budgets have been solvent, and have found more ways to generate revenue to keep taxes down on our city residents. We have hired a new police chief that is doing an excellent job, and our patrolling officers are policing our city very well. The city government has continued a proactive atmosphere, and maintained a mutual working relationship with the county government.”

Bret Baierlein

Bret Baierlein, 34, has been married to his wife, Priscilla for seven years and they are the parents of a 15-month-old boy named Steffen. He is a fourth generation resident of Lancaster, a veteran of the United States Marine Corps, and has served the community as a teacher for seven years, as well as coaching for over a decade.

“I have served on the City Council for two terms,” he said. “I am seeking re-election because I have been the beneficiary of so many blessings from the people of this city, and this service is just one small way in which I can try to give back to my community. Service to community and country is a value that I have held dear all my life, whether in the military, as a teacher and coach, or as a member of the City Council. All of these are tremendous honors that I approach with humility and sincerity.”

Randy Stathers

Randy Stathers, 58, is a lifelong resident of Lancaster. His mother is Alice Meadows Stathers. He is married to Bobbie Williams Stathers and has a son, Randall Kelly, whose wife Jamie and son, Aiden, live in Bowling Green.

Stathers is a 1972 Garrard County High School graduate and attended two years of college at ECU. He is a Lieutenant on the Lancaster City Fire Department on which he has 36 years of service. He is also a Housing Authority of Lancaster board member and has 25 plus years of business management.

He has been elected 11 terms (22 years) to the Lancaster City Council.

“I feel this is an opportune time for me to once again serve the citizens of Lancaster,” he said. “I feel my business management knowledge, skills, and experience es can only make this a win-win situation for both Lancaster and its citizens.”

Brandon C. McGlone

Brandon McGlone, 26, is a 2004 graduate of Garrard County High School where he was class valedictorian and a Governor’s Scholar.

A student of General Studies at Eastern Kentucky University, he is currently the AmeriCorps representative at GCHS with responsibilities in Algebra tutoring and the promotion of community service.

Interesting facts about him that many may not know, he said, are: He is a HUGE sports fan (Go CATS!!) and an ordained minister.

“I have proudly served as a city councilman the past two years,” he said. “When I was 13 years old my father passed away. This community embraced my mother and me, showing us kindness and sympathy that had a profound effect on our lives during a very difficult time. This made me eternally grateful to the people of Lancaster and is the reason I chose to give my service to the city two years ago by representing its people. After careful prayer, deliberation and personal requests from city employees, citizens, and fellow council members, I chose to seek a second term. I look forward to continuing to serve the citizens of Lancaster by fighting for a common-sense approach to governing, fiscal responsibility, and the accountability of those in charge of being stewards of taxpayers’ dollars.”

Jesse Wagoner

Jesse Wagoner, 43, graduated from Garrard County High School in 1988 and has been a truck driver for The Allen Company for the past 12 years.

He and his wife, Angie, have been married for 18 years and they have two wonderful boys- Noah, 12, and Jackson, 3.

He is a member of Hyattsville Baptist Church.

“I have enjoyed serving the citizens of Lancaster for the past 14 years on the city council,” he said. “I feel like I am dedicated to the citizens of Lancaster in making the right choices for the citizens and the City of Lancaster.”

Ronny G. Baker

Ronny G. Baker, 66, graduated from Lancaster High School in May 1964. He joined the U.S. Army on August 17, 1965, and was honorably discharged August 1968 with the rank of SGT. E-5. He served in Vietnam in 1966.

He married in 1971 Mayme Powell, who passed away December, 2010. He has two daughters and 1 step-son. He is retired from Whirlpool-Matsushita after 25-1/2 years.

He served on the Lancaster City Council from 1976 to 1980 and served one year on the Lancaster P&Z in 1978. He served again on the city council from 1988- 1990.

“I feel being retired I am able to devote more time to be involved in city business,” he said.

Mike Sutton

Mike Sutton, 36, has degrees in Business Management and Accounting and works for National College in Danville.

He was born and raised in Lancaster whose family goes back for generations here.

“I have roots in this city with no intentions of leaving it,” Sutton, who presently is serving on the city council, said. “I try with each decision I vote on to have the passion and goal of bettering our already wonderful city.

Gale Eden

Gale Eden, 55, is a 1975 graduate of Garrard County High School and has been married to Frankie Eden for 38 years. They have two daughters-Lowavia and Lowania, four grandchildren-Samantha, Shayna, Hannah and Skyler.

Her parents are the late Clyde Bolton and Edith Bolton.

She is an Administrative Specialist III at State Risk & Insurance Services in Frankfort.

She has been named a Kentucky Colonel in December 2008. She attends New Mission Worship Center, Danville.

She has not served in public office prior to this election.

“I have always been told ‘Things don’t get done, unless someone does it,” she said. “I want to be that SOMEONE! I want to work with and LISTEN to our citizens of Lancaster. My father, Clyde Bolton, always told me be sure to VOTE and if you’re going to voice an opinion-- be ready to back it up. I realized we needed someone to listen and consider what the citizens want for the City. I promise I Will ALWAYS LISTEN and will work together with the mayor and other city council members to go forward for Lancaster’s future.

Jeff Adams

Jeff Adams, 54, has thirty-two years of public service including federal, state, county and city government.

He served two years as Mayor Pro-term of Lancaster in Billy Moss Administration. He was County/City Emergency Manager for 10 years.

“I’m for fair and equal treatment to all city employees and will work with other members of the Council to conduct all meetings in a civil and orderly fashion,” he said.

He is willing to work with the other members of the council and the Garrard Water Association to keep water rates low. “We have many residents in our city and county that are retired and live on fixed incomes. We cannot forget this in our planning, he said.

“I feel experience will help in difficult times,” he added.

City Council Candidates Answer Questions

1. What do you feel are your strengths and how will those strengths benefit the residents of Lancaster if you are elected?

Alan C. Sanders II

My strength to overcome this personal pettiness is to rise above this “sandbox”. If elected I will not serve the “sandbox” but, the city of Lancaster. I will return this city to progress. This includes all of the citizens of this city no matter their economic position, infirmity, race or class. For too long these citizens have been ignored and if I am elected they will no longer be ignored.

Chris Davis

If re-elected, I could help the city in numerous ways. I live and work in the city, and I am around town and see the citizens every day. I feel I can get a substantial amount of ideas from citizens to better prosper our city. I am an eager and proactive citizen that is always looking for ideas and thoughts to better our community. I feel being a younger citizen in the community I can bring new ideas to the council. During the past two years, more and more people have been involved in our community, and have taken on responsibilities that have never been done before. It is wonderful to see the citizens of Lancaster becoming more proactive to their community.

Bret Baierlein

I feel my greatest strengths are my ability to communicate, provide thoughtful study of the issues, and a willingness to make tough decisions in the face of pressure. These traits are especially important as we continue to try to move our city forward. Lancaster needs leaders who will diligently guard the investment citizens make in our community and representatives that actively seek out all the information on issues to make sound, well-informed decisions. A leader must be able to make decisions in the best interests of the city, regardless of their political pressures.

Randy Stathers

My 25 plus years of experience as a sales manager/supervisor gives me the experience and ability to use my deductive reasoning, budgeting, time management, supervision, problem solving and liaison skills and being able to think with and keep a level head when serving as a Lancaster City Councilperson.

Brandon C McGlone

Citizens benefit most when their elected officials are concerned with seeking the “right” path instead of always being on the lookout for the “easy” path. Over the past two years I have shown a dedication to pursuing the best course of action for Lancaster and its citizens, even if it wasn’t the easy one. When anything is done that I don’t believe is in the best interest of the tax-payers, I’m not afraid to speak my mind. The mayor doesn’t appreciate this quality, but if reelected I will continue to bring attention to any mismanagement of tax dollars and misuses of power. The people of Lancaster have worked too hard to have their taxes spent frivolously or to have leadership that would rather take the easy path over the right one.

Jesse Wagoner

My strengths are the experience & knowledge I have gained by serving the citizens the past 14 years. A way to benefit the residents is to have someone in the position that they can depend on.

Ronny G. Baker

I feel having lived in Lancaster my entire life I can and will be fair to each and everyone in the city and even the county because we are all in this together. I have no hidden agenda and if elected everything I try to do will be totally above board.

Mike Sutton

I am not afraid to stand up for what I believe is right. I believe all of the council has proven over the past two years that sometimes we have had to make decisions that weren’t necessarily the most popular decisions; but based on the information we had at the time I always voted for what I thought was right for the city and the citizens who live here.

Gale Eden

I am a steadfast hard worker. I don’t give up on a project until it is completed. As a 10 year State Worker, I have gained knowledge and experience that I feel will be helpful in gaining grants and funding applications.

Jeff Adams

Prior experience.

2. What do you think is the most important issue facing Lancaster City government at this time and how do you propose to deal with that issue?

Alan C. Sanders II

This community faces an enormous crisis. This crisis that the current council has frivolously procrastinated on and utterly failed to act on is the ability to provide its own citizens the basic service of clean drinking water. The current council has fumbled the ball. It has fiddled while our most basic utility has burned. This basic necessity (clean drinking water) is something that every man, woman and child needs to live.

Chris Davis

The most important issue facing the city currently is the building of a new water plant. We have time constraints with building a plant based off grants that we have received. A decision must be made in February, and ground must be broken by June 2013 to receive all grants. It is imperative that Lancaster City Council and Garrard County Water Association work jointly to make the best decision to serve the needs of the citizens of Lancaster/Garrard County.

Bret Baierlein

The most important issue facing our city is obviously the impending decision on the construction of a new Water Treatment Plant. It is in the best interests of Lancaster, and of Garrard County, to maintain local control of our water production. So long as it is fiscally responsible, I intend to continue to pursue a course that ensures local control.

Randy Stathers

The lack of mutual support and respect between the Mayor and City Council. Before the City of Lancaster can be seen as a viable candidate for a new business to become part of Lancaster’s infrastructure and community, Lancaster cannot continue to be seen as a divided government. One can always look to our state motto, “United We Stand, Divided We Fall” and realize this is and always will be true. We cannot begin to tackle issues such as a new water treatment plant or getting a new grocery store, until this has been accomplished. As a new Council person, I will work to the best of my ability to see this come to fruition.

Brandon C. McGlone

If you spend a few moments with Lancaster residents it becomes obvious what is their biggest concern about our community – the lack of a grocery store and other businesses. The city council cannot solely lure a grocery into town, but there are several measures we can take to ensure that Lancaster remains a viable option for businesses looking to possibly locate in our area. This is my three-point plan to accomplish this: First, we have to keep our property taxes as LOW as possible so that potential businesses are willing to buy land in Lancaster. Second, in order to keep property taxes low, we need to look into other means of revenue for the city such as raising our liquor taxes which are currently far below the rates of Danville and Richmond. Finally, we need to maintain a solid infrastructure in the way of our utilities by providing quality water at the LOWEST possible rate. By keeping government out of the way of businesses’ decisions, Lancaster will foster the most feasible possibility of bringing new industries into our town.

Jesse Wagoner

I feel like the most important issue at this time is the discussions on building a new water plant.

My proposal would be to work with the mayor, other council members and any other elected officials to come to a conclusion to what will benefit the citizens and the City of Lancaster.

Ronny G. Baker

A. Tax Rate. B. Water-sewer C. Business- Industry D. Road Infrastructure

I think to deal with these issues, the mayor and council are going to have to work together for the betterment of the citizens of Lancaster.

Mike Sutton

I believe work can still be done towards the city government working as a cohesive unit; with fluent communication and upfront ideals and goals discussed among all branches. Everyone needs to be on the same page and work towards the common goal of bettering our community.

Gale Eden

Working together with the mayor and rest of the city council members. We need to listen and we need to agree to disagree without being Disagreeable.” Consider what is best for lancaster and then move forward.

Jeff Adams

Water rates

3. In a small community, people generally know one another often times intimately and for long periods of time. Are you prepared to make tough decisions for the betterment of the community as a whole knowing your decision may not sit well with your friends and neighbors?

Alan C. Sanders II

There may be tough decisions ahead. Some will be popular and some will not. I happen to be a person that believes that in or to get things done one must speak the truth to power. If elected I will not be afraid to do this. Therefore, in this grave hour, perhaps the most important hour in our community’s history I send every household a message. I humbly ask for your vote on November 6.

Chris Davis

I chose to run again for city council because I feel there are unfinished endeavors that we haven’t as a council completed. I feel the city council has done a tremendous job the past two years. Lancaster has a bright future ahead of it and I want to be part of that growth by being involved as a representative of the people in Lancaster. I am a concerned citizen, not a politician. Lancaster is my home and I feel that I can bring new ideas and representation to the citizens in Lancaster. The people that know me understand that I am an eager individual who strives for excellence and expects the very best in everything that I do. Being involved publicly in a small town can be difficult, but you have to be able to listen to concerns from your neighbors, yet discussion potential corrections, and conclude with an agreeable median. Each time I vote, I vote for the best interests of the community with a vision for the future.

Bret Baierlein

I believe my service on the council has been marked by tough decisions. I have cast votes in direct opposition to life-long friends and have stood firm in the face of intense scrutiny and pressure. While some of those decisions may have been politically unpopular, I think an objective analysis of those decisions shows that they were the right decisions to make. In the end, my guiding principles on making decisions are these: 1) Gather as much information as possible, from fellow citizens and outside sources, 2) study the options carefully, and finally, 3) make the decision that I believe is the best for Lancaster and its people. I can honestly say that I have never made a promise in my service to the council that I haven’t kept, and I have never made a decision as a member of the council for political gain or out of fear for political consequences.

Randy Stathers

Yes, I am prepared to make these decisions because I’ve had to make these in the past. Unfortunately, one cannot make two parties happy. One or the other will not agree with the situation at hand.

Brandon C. McGlone

Abraham Lincoln said these wise words: “You can please all of the people some of the time, some of the people all of the time, but you can never please all of the people all of the time.” I always try to make every decision with the best interest of others in mind (never with my own interests at the forefront), but I am fully aware that not every decision I make will be agreed upon by those close to me. If there is a solution to a problem that is best for everyone, then obviously that is the direction that should be taken. However, I know that my job is NOT to try and “please all of the people all of the time” – it is to make the best decision possible, for the most people as possible, with the greatest amount of information as possible. Just ask the mayor if it has bothered me to make decisions that have upset her when we have disagreed upon what was in the best interest of Lancaster... I believe she would agree that I have no problem sticking to my guns when it comes to what I feel is best for this community.

Jesse Wagoner

I have dealt with this in the past and had to make tough decisions, but I always do what is right for the citizens of Lancaster. In this position you can’t make everyone happy, but I feel that eventually the ones that are not happy will understand why certain decisions had to be made.

Ronny G. Baker

I feel that if the citizens are to be helped I have no problem in making difficult decisions. If we are to work for the community, certain decisions will have to be made.

Mike Sutton

I have in the past two years made decisions that were not always popular; ones that have caused good friends to disagree at times with what I felt was right. Based on the information I had at the time I had to do what I felt was the best for the city as a whole.

Gale Eden

We will never please everyone all the time. We are elected by the people to serve the BEST Interest of the City. I must be prepared to explain why I voted the way I did.

Jeff Adams

Our friends and neighbors are the ones who elect us to serve them.

4. In light of the recent information indicating that Garrard Water Association has no interest in signing a long-term contract with the city for the purchase of water, an absolute must if the city is to receive about 60 percent of the funding to build a new water plant, what is your recommendation as how the city should proceed?

Alan C. Sanders II

I cannot provide a greater abject example which stripped of all disguise of failure to our community. Thus, our present council is solely at fault. Their actions have been in vain. If elected I will work for a compromise with the Garrard Water Association. But, compromise is a two way street because for the entire honor we hold dear (our water utility) we will keep local control of our water. If elected; I ask you to stand calm during this time of trial and reverently commit the idea of compromise on clean water to God because with a diligent City Council and with God’s help we will prevail.

Chris Davis

First and foremost, I feel it is the best interest to the community to keep local control of our water plant. By the printing of this response, a meeting will have been held to discuss the future in localized water service. My recommendation is for Lancaster City Government and Garrard County Water Association to work collaboratively to maintain a LOCAL water plant, as opposed to being bought by an outside corporation, or the construction of a regionalized water facility, which would impact the local control of the decision making process effecting Lancaster/Garrard County.

Bret Baierlein

As I said earlier, there is no issue more important to the City of Lancaster and its citizens than charting a course forward toward local control of our water resources. I am absolutely committed to the building of a local treatment facility, though, quite frankly, we still don’t know the exact route just yet. Myself and other members of the council are actively seeking a way forward - including a meeting called, at the behest of the council, between the principals on Monday, October 22nd. We undoubtedly have a lot of discussions and negotiations ahead of us, so it would be dishonest of me to make promises when so much is still left unknown. I simply do not believe in making idle pledges for political gain. As the old saying goes, “there’s many a slip twixt a cup and a lip.” Ultimately, I CAN give my word to all citizens of Lancaster that, no matter what course is charted, I will continue to be a strong advocate for the city and its citizens, working to ensure that any final decision is responsible and in their best interests.

Randy Stathers

Lancaster should build the new plant and work with the Garrard County Water Association. To franchise the water would be a mistake. Lancaster would lose control of the water. If changed, citizens would have to get two bills, one for water and one for services.

Brandon C. McGlone

This questionnaire is being written prior to the Monday, October 22nd meeting being held about the future of our water plant. However, I can assure you what my focus will be when the meeting takes place and various options are discussed... I will be concentrated on ensuring that our citizens continue to receive quality water in the most cost-effective way possible. It is disconcerting that the mayor did not let councilmembers know that the studies providing essential information on this topic (paid for by tax payers) were completed, and instead tried to postpone a meeting until after the November council elections. However, unlike the mayor, I thought citizens deserved to know the truth about where the city stands on the future of our water plant which is why I insisted upon (along with other current councilmembers) holding this meeting as soon as possible. This is something we need to make progress with immediately – we can’t afford to wait around or to allow decisions to be made by an ineffective government. After ALL options are weighed and discussed, I will relentlessly dedicate my time and efforts to pursuing a route which will guarantee a minimal effect on the prices our citizens pay for water, and, if at all possible, will allow future decisions about our water to be made locally.

Thank you for your time in weighing all of the viewpoints of the people running for city council, and thank you for considering me to continue being your local representative. As always, I welcome the input/questions/concerns of the community, and therefore would like to give you my personal contact information. Please feel free to get a hold of me via email: mcglone.brandon@gmail.com or on my cell: (859)339-3340. I would love to speak with you and look forward to your input. See you at the polls!

Jesse Wagoner

My recommendation would be to have all responsible parties to try to work together on coming up with a solution for this issue.

Ronny G. Baker

I think the city and county water need to come to the table and come to a consensus as to what the problems are and how they can be solved in a way that benefits everyone.

Mike Sutton

I believe we need to get together and work towards a common goal with the GCWA. There can be a compromise met if we all work together. We all have the same outcome in mind; what is best for all of our constituents. Everyone involved is professional and I believe willing to work together to find a common ground.

Gale Eden

While I have not been privileged to the information currently available to the current city administration - we need to take a hard look at it. Both the county and city’s main goal is to provide water to its citizens. I would hope that the County would reconsider their decision- but I do feel we have to also have a Plan B- which we could enlist our newly elected State Representative for help in obtaining State Funding or Grants.

Jeff Adams

Very slowly and with great caution. I state in my election material that I would work with them but not for them.

If there is to be some compromise, I would have to hear it from our current residents and employees. In the end we must find a way to work with each other and not for anyone but the residents.

He is married to Babette Overman and has one son Jay K. Overman.

“As an accomplished career educator of 44 years, it is still my daily objective to assist in the development of young people’s lives,” he said. “I have spent 44 years as a teacher/professor, coach and certified athletic administrator which includes 10 years at the college level.”

Some of the athletic achievements has been Indiana High School State Basketball Championship, Indiana High School Coach of the Year, Florida High School Basketball State Runner Up, Indiana High School Basketball All Star Coach, Mid-West Regional AAU Track and Field Coach and won the National AAU Track and Field Championship title.

He has been a professional teacher (high school, middle school and elementary as well as college professor). He has also served as an Athletic Director and coach of 6 different sports.

“I began teaching in 1962 and presently am involved in 2 Kentucky educational systems; thus I have been involved in education for over 6 different decades,” he said. “My public school, private school and college teaching experiences have taken me to Kentucky, Indiana, Alabama, Florida, Missouri, and Virginia.”

Jerry Browning

Jerry Browning, 65, has a Doctor of Theology degree and is in his 16th year serving as pastor of the Forks of Dix River Baptist Church.

“I have been married to my beautiful wife Patti for 44 years,” he said. “We were in the first graduating class of the newly consolidated Garrard County High School in 1965. God has blessed us with two beautiful daughters who have in turn blessed us with 7 grandchildren.”

He is a Viet Nam war veteran having served as a radio operator from February 1967 to February 1968. He enjoys travelling as well.

This past February he led a team of six from his church to help with tsunami relief in Japan. He have also led mission teams to Africa, Brazil, El Salvador, and Haiti.

“Patti and I have been leading Holy Land pilgrimages since 1977 and are going back with a group this coming February,” he said.

He has been a licensed pilot for over 30 years and enjoys motorcycle riding and gardening.

He is completing his 8th year as a member of the Garrard County Board of Education.

“I had actually considered not running for a third term,” he said. “As word of this began to get out I received numerous phone calls as well as folks coming up to me out in the community asking me to reconsider my decision. After much prayer I decided to run once again.”

Alleged Sexual Abuse Leads Grand Jury Indictments

By Pattie Cox
pc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

The Garrard County Grand Jury found probable cause to bring indictment charges against nine defendants with a Lancaster man, Roger Lewis Langdon, 47, 112 Lexington Street, facing not only a second-degree burglary charge, but first-degree sexual abuse.

According to the court document, Lewis illegally entered a residence on Lexington Street on June 16 and “intentionally subjected a person, who was unable to consent because she was less than 12 years old, to sexual contact.”

Bail has been set at $25,000 in cash. Langdon is scheduled for arraignment on Nov. 2.

Mother And Son Indicted Jointly For Manufacturing Meth

A mother and son who drug-task-force investigators had been watching and waiting for the right time to nab got their chance on July 17 when officers received a tip and went in. The grand jury concurred that the evidence supported law enforcement claims that the two were in the process of “cooking meth” bringing charges against Alma Singleton, 47, and Ricky Boyd, 27 both of 2236 Richmond Road Loop 1. Each is charged with possession of methamphetamines, possession of marijuana and manufacturing methamphetamine.

Lancaster Police Officer Will Lake said that parents with children experiencing drug problems had been complaining about the location for about a year but local agencies never had good enough leads to go in until that Tuesday in mid-July. Lake, along with Kentucky State Police Trooper Eric Gibson and Garrard County Deputy Sheriff James Napier, allegedly found the active meth lab along with numerous items used before and after the process is complete. Gibson told Lake that the gallon Mason jar they found still cooking is the largest he had seen since he has been on KSP’s hazardous-material clean-up team. Lake said they also found conditions in the home to be deplorable.

Bail has been set for Singleton at $2,500 and for Boyd at $10,000.

Welfare Fraud

A Paint Lick woman,

Bridget M. Day, 41, 430 Doty Lane, is facing a charge of welfare fraud to the tune of $11,315. According to the indictment, Day provided false information from March 2009 through August 2011 which resulted in her receiving the money under false pretenses. Bail has been set at $2,500 in cash.

Others Indicted This Month

Frankie Mason, 36, Richmond, has been charged with theft by failure to make required disposition under $10,000. According to the indictment, Mason accepted more than $500 on June 19 for work he had agreed to do and, instead, allegedly used it for his own benefit.

Jodi Bell, 114 Turner Avenue, has been charged with two counts of criminal possession of a forged instrument. According to the indictment, Bell wrote two checks, one on Sept. 17 and the other on Sept. 18, on the account of Charles Hatfield. Bell’s bail has been set at $2,500 in cash.

Norma Duncan, 47, 123 Good Hope Church Road, and Crystal Getter, 52, 66 Highland Avenue, have been jointed charged with second-degree trafficking in a controlled substance, lortab related to an incident on July 10. Bail has been set for each at $2,500 in cash.

Charles Key, 43, Waynesburg, faces three counts. Key is charged with possession of oxycodone, a first-degree possession-of-a-controlled-substance offense, and with possession of Xanax, a second-degree possession-of-a-controlled -substance offense. Key also faces a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon, brass knuckles, police found during his arrest on June 29. Key has already posted bond.

Arraignments are all scheduled for Nov. 2.

Martin Sentenced To 10 Years In Burglary/Meth Case

By Ted Cox
tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

One of three defendants involved in a burglary case that was broken wide open last March, when authorities discovered a meth lab that led them to discover numerous stolen items, has been sentenced to serve ten years in prison for the crimes.

Brett Martin, 21, 3969 Mt. Hebron Road, was sentenced to four terms of 10 years on Friday morning, all to be served concurrently. Due to the fact that he is a persistent felony offender, formal sentencing enhanced the penalties.

Martin was sentenced to seven years enhanced to 10 on four counts each of being a convicted felon in possession of a handgun, five years enhanced to 10 for a reduced charge of possession of meth precursors and seven years enhanced to 10 for receiving stolen property over $10,000, and five years enhanced to 10 for receiving stolen property over $500; all of which are to run concurrently for a total of 10 years.

A persistent felony offender in the second degree is a person who is more than 21 years of age and who stands convicted of a felony after having been convicted of one previous felony.

Martin was caught, along with Travis Puckett, when police investigating a loud-music complaint traced the disturbance to a pickup truck parked in a business parking lot nearby. Police found firearms, ski masks and other burglary paraphernalia along with stolen items in the vehicle. The victim’s identification of one of the weapons recovered led police to 402 Southway Drive, the home of Elizabeth Barnes, where a search turned up two meth labs and hundreds of stolen items that had been reported in recent months throughout the area. That search led them to Martin’s home on Mount Hebron Road where many more items were found including a stolen trailer and four-wheeler tracked to Boyle County.

However police were still not finished. A storage unit, rented in Martin’s name, was also discovered to be full of stolen property.

The case was so large that the stolen property recovered spilled over into several rooms in the Lancaster Police Department and the city’s municipal center.

Garrard Will Face One Of The Top Backs In The State

By Danny Elam

delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

One of the premier running backs in the state comes to Dyehouse Stadium Friday night when Damien Harris and Madison Southern come calling in the regular season finale for both teams.

Harris, a 5'10" 203 pound sophomore, already has scholarship offers from Kentucky, Tennessee and Michigan plus others.

He has been timed in the forty at 4.42 and has rushed for 1,714 yards and 34 touchdowns this season. He has two more scores on pass receptions.

"There is no question that we will have to contain the Harris kid but Madison Southern has been doing a nice job of running complimentary plays off plays where Harris usually gets the ball," Garrard coach Mark Scenters said. "Harris for sure looks to be the real deal on film."

Last week in a 56-0 win at South Laurel Harris ran for 109 yards and two scores and the Eagle offense racked up over 400 yards on the ground with fellow back Wes Proctor also picking up over 100 yards.

Quarterback Adam Simpson completed 12 of 13 passes in the win.

Devante Linville and John Williams are dangerous receivers.

"They have a tough offensive combination but Harris is the pin that it all centers around," Scenters said.

Garrard running back Noah Williams enters the game with 953 yards rushing, leaving him only 47 yards short of 1,000 yards for the season.

Both teams will move on to the playoffs with Southern hosting Perry County Central in Class 5A and Garrard travelling to Russell in Class 3A.

Garrard County scored seven first half touchdowns to lead 51-6 and force a running clock before the award winning Golden Lion Marching Band even took the field to perform Friday night.

With reserves playing the entire second half the Lions added one more touchdown for a 59-6 win over the winless Engineers.

It took Garrard less than a minute to get on the scoreboard for the first time.

A nice Jaylen McPherson kickoff return plus a personal foul on Estill County put the Lions in business at the Engineer 38 yard line.

Quarterback Billy Abney picked up 20 yards on the first play from scrimmage and Layne Cumby covered the final 18 yards for the touchdown. A Garrett Caudill two-point conversion gave the Lions an 8-0 lead.

Garrard held the Engineers on the ensuing possession but Estill did the same on Garrard's second try, forcing a Slade Crutchfield punt that penned the Engineers deep in their own territory.

On the second play after taking over Estill quarterback Kris Dennis got loose and rumbled 91 yards for a score, the Engineers only one of the game. Garrard stopped Dennis on the conversion try but a penalty gave Estill a second try but the Garrard defense again stopped Dennis short of the goal line.

After that it was all Garrard County as the Golden Lions scored on their next six possessions without allowing an Estill County first down.

Noah Williams got the parade going with a seven yard scoring run. Abney followed with a 14 yard run that put Garrard ahead 24-6 after a period of play.

Freshmen McPherson and Mike Redmon scored on one and 17 yard runs respectively to for a 38-6 lead with 5:21 to play in the half.

Caudill took a 17 yard pass from Abney for Garrard's sixth touchdown and then scored from four yards out in the "Wildcat" formation with 30 second left in the half to start the running clock.

On Estill's first drive of the second half against the Garrard JV the Engineers drove deep into Garrard territory

Garrard County's Garrett Caudill (14) runs in a two-point conversion in the Golden Lions 59-6 win over Estill County.

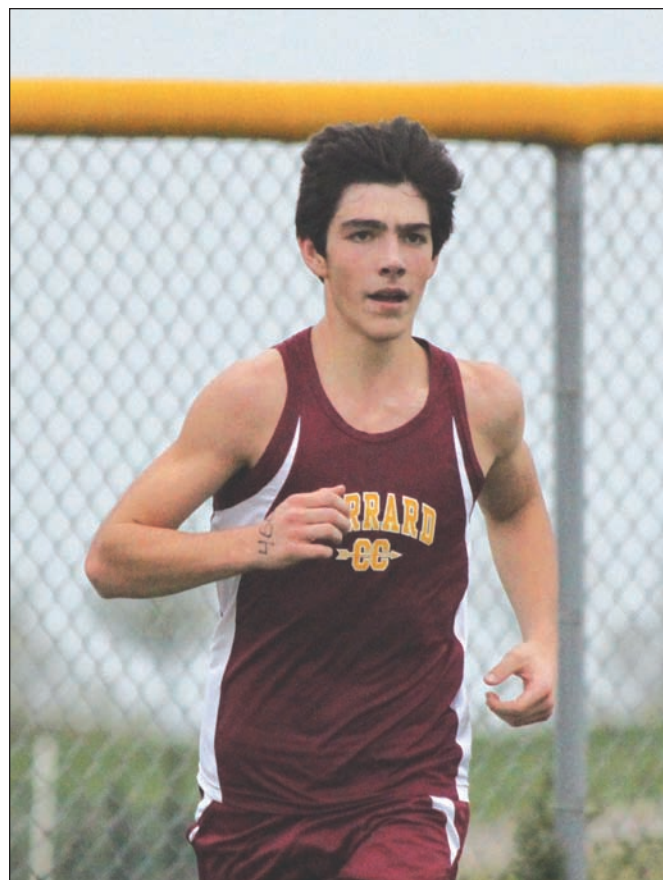

Sawyer Excels At Nationals

Garrard Middle Schooler, Sawyer Cornett, traveled to St. Louis this weekend to compete in the national Super Youth fencing circuit. He fenced two days and won six of his pool bouts.

Cornett competed against opponents from Canada and Jamaica, and United States. Competing in the Super Youth circuit qualifies him to compete in the Summer National Championships this summer held in Memphis.

Cornett also won first place earlier in October at the Profencing foil tournament in Ohio for 14 year olds. He will attend two North American Cup tournaments this season, the first in January.

Garrard's Garrett Sparks set a personal best in a recent cross country meet at Lexington Catholic.

The Garrard County middle and high school cross country teams ended their regular season meets this week. Both teams competed at an All-Comers meet at Mercer County on Tuesday and the Lexington Catholic Invitational at the KY Horse Park on Saturday.

The middle school team will end their season next weekend at the state championships at Lexington's Masterson Station Park, while the high school team will next compete at the 2A Region 5 meet on November 10 at Bell County.

The high school boys were led by Cole Grecco in both races. He won the 5k race at Mercer in 17:35, beating Mercer's Bryant Qualls by 43 seconds. Grecco was followed by teammates Spencer Anderson (16th) and Ethan Smith (20th).

Grecco then finished 15th out of 186 runners in the A/AA schools Lexington Catholic Invitational in 17:21. The other Garrard runners in the race, Garrett Sparks and Ethan Smith both set personal bests, in 19:22 and 22:33, respectively.

Assistant Coach Chris Grecco was very satisfied with the effort noting, "All three ran well on Saturday on a tough course in windy conditions. Cole used the race to better understand the course, since it's the site of the state championships in three weeks. He came through the first mile a little quick (5:05) so now he knows what the course has in store. Then, with Garrett and Ethan setting personal bests in such a big race, it sets them up to perform well at regionals in a couple of weeks."

With perhaps their best showing of the year, the middle school boys finished second among five teams in the Mercer All-Comers 3k race, losing only to Lexington's Bates Creek Middle School.

The team was led by 5th grader Brayden Sebastian who finished second overall. They also nabbed three of the remaining top eight finishes (JT Fitzpatrick in 3rd, Carson Grecco in 6th, and Josh Warren in 8th). The girls were led by Trinity Visconti who finished 8th and Mariam Snall who finished 11th.

The team then responded well to very stiff competition and increased distance at Saturday's Lexington Catholic race. Moving up to the 4k in preparation for the state championships. Sebastian again led the team finishing 59th out of 175 runners in 17:20. Following Sebastian were Fitzpatrick, Warren, and Zach Sparks.

On the girls side, Shae Davis was the team's top finisher in 19:46, placing 43rd out of 125 runners.

Assistant Coach Jeff Moss was a pleasantly surprised at how well the kids fared, "I'll be honest and say that I wasn't sure how well we'd do going up to 4k [all races so far were 3k]. A thousand meters doesn't sound like a lot, but when you are running as fast as these kids do, on grass and up hills, it certainly makes a difference. The kids really strived to do well in the largest race of the year and I think they are excited at the opportunity to compete at the state championships next weekend."

Garrard coach Mark Scenters looks on during the Lions 59-6 win over Estill County.

MLB - I have to tip my hat to the Giants. They not only beat the Reds three straight games to come back from two games down and win the NLDS, they did the same to the Cardinals in the NLCS. The Cards jumped out to a 3-1 lead in the seven game series only to lose three straight also. The Cardinals just flat out quit hitting in the NLCS. They scored only one run in the three losses. They suffered from streaks like that all year long and would rebound. This time, time ran out. Both Cincinnati and St. Louis fans should be happy with the 2012 season. The Reds won the Central by nine games and the Cards came on late to get the last wildcard and advance all the way to the seventh game of the NLCS. I'm a National League fans all the way so I'll be cheering for the Giants in the World Series.

Directions: From the north, take I-75 South to Richmond, KY Exit 87, turn left, travel 1 mile, turn right on KY Highway 52 West, travel approx. 12 miles, farm will be on the right. From the south take Exit 76, turn left on Highway 21, travel approx. 8 miles to Highway 52, turn left travel 1 mile to auction site. From Lancaster, KY travel 2 miles on Highway 52 East to Paint Lick, KY, cross the bridge into Madison Co. farm will be on the left. Signs will be posted.

We have been employed to sell at Absolute Auction this farm including 2 houses, equipment, tools, and approx. 100 rolls of hay on above date and time. The farm has been in the Hensley family for over 100 years. If you have been looking for a farm with lots of bottom land, this is it. The entrance to the farm is off Highway 52, it joins the Paint Lick Creek for over 1 mile. There is approximately 95 acres in Garrard County, the remaining 130 +/- acres is in Madison County, with improvements of 2 houses, barns, and shed. 1 house has 3 bedrooms, living room, dining room and bath, with front and side porches, and garage. The other house has 8 rooms, 5 rooms downstairs that consist of 1 bedroom, living room, kitchen, dining room, and bath; with 3 bedrooms upstairs. Both houses have gas heat.

Additional improvements on this farm include a nice 40' x 132' barn on a concrete foundation with an attached 12' x 28' concrete block stripping room. Large 50' x 100' barn with basement, that was formerly used as a milking parlor and feed storage. A machine shed 40' x 306' on concrete block foundation, all of these buildings have new metal roofs. This large farm has been used as a dairy and tobacco farm in the past years, the long bottom land adjoining the Paint Lick Creek providing an abundant water supply for any kind of farming operation you might want to pursue, including cattle, horses, corn, or produce. The land is rolling with large bottoms and woods making this idea cover for wildlife and the sports enthusiast.

GMS Red Ribbon Week

We kicked the week off with an assembly from School Resource Officer Dave Amon and his partner Sarge. Students enjoyed the history of Red Ribbon Week and seeing Sarge go to work. Deputy Amon told the students about how Sarge was trained and what he was trained to do.

Activities for the week include, School Spirit Day, Hat Day, Black Out Day, Crazy Hair Day, and Wear Red Day.

Students are also having a poster contest and a door decorating contest.

Some winners from Monday are Daylan Logan and Tyler Tunegate, Olivia Saylor, Emily Miller and Gracie Stinnett

CHAPTER 6

Go to www.kypress.com to hear Woody read each chapter and try the interactive chapter activities. Thanks to Kentucky Utilities/LG&E, Kentucky Office for Adventure Tourism, Kentucky Press Association and Newspaper in Education for helping to make this statewide literacy project possible.

For the second time in my life I had fallen off a horse. Granted, the first time was the horse at the supermarket, but falling off Chester hurt even more. I don't know what I was more upset over – falling off Chester or not getting a picture of the moose.

"It was an elk, Woody, not a moose," Pete said, correcting me when I told him the story. "Elk are prevalent in Kentucky's forests. When you went to grab the camera you lost your balance and fell off. The thump you heard was your helmet hitting the ground."

"Thank goodness for the helmet," I said, happy that Pete had made me wear one.

"Glad to know you're OK," he said. "Sometimes photographing wildlife can hurt them unintentionally. Most animals get spooked when a human approaches them. Sometimes it causes the animal to flee or attack. Please remember that next time."

We finished the trail ride and thanked Pete for all his help.

"I hope we can come back soon to ride," I said to Pete as we were leaving.

"We would love to have you back," Pete responded, "but Kentucky is horse country. There are places all over the state to go horseback riding. Go to HYPERLINK "http://www.getoutky.com" Getoutky.com to find a list." I wrote down the web site, excited about the possibility to go horseback riding again.

After sleeping under the stars and eating a healthy breakfast of granola and fresh strawberries, we opened up our next Rx card from Doc Albert. Dad asked me to read the card. I cleared my throat and read loudly.

"While you could find countless activities in the Daniel Boone National Forest and Eastern Kentucky area, it's time to move to another region. Dad: Drive north on Highway 11, then go left on Highway 9 for 42 miles. Then you'll see an intersection. Your new trainer will meet you. Pups: Use the brochures I've included and make a list of all the activities you can do in Kentucky. Include where the activities are located."

As Dad drove and Mom rode shotgun, Chloe and I read the Kentucky brochures. We were amazed to find out some interesting facts about the Bluegrass.

"Listen," Chloe said, grabbing everyone's attention. "This brochure says Kentucky has 39,732 square miles of land with commercial forest land occupying 12.7 million acres; has more miles of running water than any other state except Alaska, and 1,100 miles are used for commercial transportation. And Kentucky has 52 state parks, including 24 recreation state parks, 17 Kentucky resort parks (more than any other state) and 11 historic state parks."

"With all of that, there is no excuse for us not to exercise while we enjoy the state," Mom said, looking at us from the front seat.

"Unfortunately, it sounds like we need exercise," Chloe offered. "Kentucky ranks sixth in the nation for having the most obese residents, second for losing our teeth, and it has a high rate of cancer deaths and more smokers than any other state."

I hadn't wanted to change my eating habits and exercise more, but that information convinced me it was necessary – not only for me but for my state. I browsed the pages of "Kentucky's Guide to Unbridled Adventure." There were pages of exciting things to do. I rambled off a long list of activities we could do and never leave Kentucky: "skydiving, mountain biking, canoeing, kayaking, caving, rock climbing, zip-lining, water skiing, sailing, scuba diving, fishing, shooting, archery ..."

"We can do all of that in Kentucky?" Mom asked, stopping me before I finished.

"Yes, ma'am," I answered, excited at all our state offered. Chloe and I counted the listings in the book. There were 358 places in Kentucky where we could participate in various activities. "Mom, can you believe there are 58 places we could canoe or kayak in Kentucky?" We were still counting the places where we could find adventure when Dad said, "We're here."

Uh-oh! I wiped my eyes, shut them and opened them again to make sure I was seeing correctly. I had obviously read the Rx card wrong. Talk about being in a pickle!

Tax Rates Levied For School Year 2012-2013

School District Garrard County #195
Contact Name: Treva Brickey
Contact Number 859-792-3018

To the Kentucky Board of Education, Frankfort, KY:

In Compliance with Kentucky Revised Statutes and the regulations of the Kentucky Board of Education, we, the board of education of the above named school district, hereby submit for your approval the following tax rates levied on (date) 09/11/12.

For rates that exceeded compensating and HB 940 tax rates, the notice and hearing requirements of KRS 160.470(7)(b) "...published at least twice for two (2) consecutive weeks, in the newspaper of largest circulation in the county....the public hearing which shall be held not less than seven (7) days nor more than ten (10) days after the day that the second advertisement is published;" have been met.

For rates subject to recall, an additional advertisement was made on (date) _____ within 7 days of the hearing as required by KRS 160.470 (8). Once the forty-five (45) days have passed since the rate was levied, we will send notification of whether a valid petition was presented. If a valid petition was present, we will indicate whether we intend to place the issue before the voters for approval.

If advertisement was required, the rates levied do not exceed the proposed rates advertised.
